The Hull Chair in Women’s Studies Program presents

2ND ANNUAL HULL LECTURER ON WOMEN AND SOCIAL JUSTICE

Back to the Middle—Black Feminist Thought, Multidimensional Identity and the World Conference against Racism, Racial Discrimination, Xenophobia and Related Intolerance

LISA A. CROOMS

LISA CROOMS, Associate Professor at the Howard University School of Law, will speak about critical race praxis and the United Nations. Crooms will focus specifically on the use of intersectionality as a way of marginalizing women’s issues and leaving unexamined the implications of race and gender for maleness (which remains the unspoken norm for conceptualizing human rights actors and violations).

Monday, April 29, 4 pm
McCune Conference Room

Co-sponsored by the Center for Black Studies, American Cultures Center, Black Studies Department, Law and Society Program, Sociology Department, and UCSB Women’s Center.

For more information or assistance in accommodating a disability, please call the UCSB Women’s Center at (805) 893-3778.